

The Ultimate Peristomal Skin Wipe

Clean your skin the Safe n' Simple™ way with no sting or added clean-up

By John LeRoy

Imagine this: You are away from home and you need to change your appliance. Depending on your preparation for the situation, the experience can be simple, challenging or, possibly, even painful. How are you going to clean your peristomal skin?

Slippery Slope

Thousands of ostomates carry with them a wet washcloth in a Ziploc™ plastic bag just in case they need to wash their skin. Others find themselves trying to use messy and rough bathroom paper towels. You may even know someone who uses baby wipes. In theory, all of these cleaning options do the job if you are away from your home and need to change your appliance, unfortunately, each solution carries many drawbacks.

Baby wipes, while they are convenient, have the most serious drawbacks. Baby wipes and adult incontinence wipes contain ingredients that will interfere with your appliance's adherence and wear time. When they are wiped on your skin, they leave behind a slippery residue. This will reduce the effectiveness of the appliance adhering to your skin because baby wipes contain oils, lanolin, glycerin and aloe. These ingredients give your skin that soft, slippery feeling which is not helpful when you are applying an appliance to this skin area.

Then, you have the situation when you are in a public rest room trying to use moist bathroom tissue and towels. These are rough and messy on your skin, breaking into many tiny pieces when used to wipe the skin and disintegrate when used to wipe the stoma. In the end, a wet wash cloth is usually the most effective, but who wants to carry around dirty, wet washcloths and transport them back home to be washed. There surely must be a better option to clean your skin and thanks to new company, Safe n' Simple™, now there is!

Formulated For Ostomates

Safe n' Simple™ has developed a Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipe specifically formulated and designed for ostomates. This wipe is effective in cleaning around your stoma without irritating your skin. Their wipe is similar to a baby wipe in size and appearance, and is packaged similar to a baby wipe so it is easily accessible and handy at all times. The wipes are large, soft and conveniently flushed after use. However, if you are on a septic system, flushing these wipes are not recommended. They have no irritating fragrances, and most importantly, the wipe does not contain oils or ingredients like lanolin, glycerin and aloe that are known to interfere with the adhesion of your appliance.

The Safe n' Simple™ Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipes™ are not only great to clean your skin, but they also perform another function; they remove the residual adhesive left on your skin from an appliance. These wipe are preferred by many ostomates for removing adhesive residue.

Alcohol Free = No Sting

Conventional adhesive remover wipes are very oily, small and contain alcohol making them difficult and sometimes painful to use. When you use these old, conventional adhesive removers, you need to wash your skin after use to remove the oily residue they leave behind on your skin before attaching your appliance. This residue can often be difficult to completely remove off the skin, and the alcohol in the conventional wipes often burns or irritates the peristomal skin area. The Safe n' Simple™ Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipes™ do not contain an oil or alcohol.

Thus, the Safe n' Simple™ wipes should not burn the skin and it is not necessary to wash the skin after using them. This will save you valuable time when changing your appliance. A survey conducted by Safe n' Simple at the 2010 Wound, Ostomy, Continence Nurses Society National Conference revealed that 94% of respondents would recommend skin care products which do not contain alcohol.

Before Safe n' Simple™ developed the Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipes™, there was not an alcohol free adhesive remover for ostomates to use. Now there is!

Medicare Approved

Safe n' Simple™ has created the ultimate skin cleaner and adhesive remover and it is covered by Medicare and most insurance providers. Based on the voices of ostomates and certified ostomy nurses, Safe n' Simple™ had finally created a wipe that satisfies the needs of ostomates, worldwide. The Broward County, Florida, UOAA Affiliated Support Group awarded Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipe™ the Editor's Choice "Best New Product in Show," from the 2007 National UOAA conference, in their newsletter, The Broward Beacon.

Production and sales of the Peri-Stoma & Adhesive Remover wipe™ have kept up with the increased demand as more people discover the product's merits. The popularity of this product spawned the introduction of the company's next product, a Skin Barrier No-Sting wipe, similar in packaging, large, soft and cost effective. Safe n' Simple™ continues to focus their efforts on developing ostomy accessories that the consumer will find safe, effective and simple to use.

Safe n' Simple™ products are distributed by large mail order providers such as; Byram Healthcare, CCS Medical, Edgepark, Liberty Home Care Services, Shields Healthcare and Sterling Medical Supply. Their products can, also, be obtained from your local ostomy supplier.
